MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

The New York Market More Active, but Weak from Opening to Close, with No Reaction. NEW YORK, Nov. 21 .- Money on call was easy at 2@21 per cent, the last loan being made at 24 per cent., closing at 2@24.

Prime mercantile paper, 41 06 per cent Sterling exchange was dull but firm at $4.84} for sixty-day bills and $4.872 for demand.

The total sales of stocks to-day were 258,976 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, 13,900; Erie, 3,600; Lake Shere, 24,400; Louisville & Nashville, 6,200; Missouri Pacific, 5,200; Northwestern, 10,700; Northern Pacific preferred, 9,500; Oregon Transcontinental, 5,800; Reading, 51,600; Richmond & West Point, 12,000; St. Paul, 28,300; Union Pacific, 14,700; Western Union

The stock market, to-day, was a little more active again, but it was weak from the opening to the close, with no reaction whatever, though the decline was made at intervals, alternated with periods of dullness and stagnation. There was absolutely no news nor developments of any kind to account for the weakness displayed, but the "bears" were very aggressive, and to their aid may be ascribed the material losses suffered by the list, although some liquidation was in process in a tew stocks. This was especially true of New England, as the buyers, on the expectation of a contest for control, are now getting rid of their stock, the general impression being that no change will be made in the management.

This was taken advantage of by the "bears," and some selling of Louisville & Nashville, Lake Shore and one or two other stocks by London, aided in producing a despondent feeling among the "bulls." Some little capital was made out of a gold shipment of $500,000 to Germany, a special transaction such as were frequent during the early months of the year, and a rumor that the Bank of England would probably sgain raise its rate of discount to-morrow helped along the demoralization of the "buils," as our sterling exchange rates are close to the exporting point. The entire list shared in the deelines, and although the activity was conto a few leading shares, the losses were very uniform, and among the low-priced shares there was no marked movement whatever. The weakness was ap parent at the opening of the market, and first prices showed losses from last evening's figures, extending to | per cent., but outside of a one half dozen stocks, there was no animation or feature, and New England was the only stock showing a decided tendency in the downward direction. The activity increased as the day wore along, and the weakness became more pronounced, Louisville & Nashville being the next stock to decline. All the active shares joined in the movement, bowever, and at the last hour more business was transacted than at any time of the day, and the close was fairly active and weak at the lowest prices of the day. The en-tire list is lower this evening. New England lost 2½ per cent., Louisville & Nashville 2, Missouri Pacific 15, Atchison, Northern Pacific preferred, Omaha preferred, and Union Pacific, 1½ each; Lake Shore, 13; Lackawana, Norfolk & Western, preferred, Oregon transcontiner tal and Reading, 11 per cent. each; Canada Southern, New York Central, St. Paul, San Francisco, prefered, and Wheeling & Lake Erie prefered, 11 per cent each; Colorado Coal, and Richmond & West Point 1 per cent. each, and the others fractional amounts.

Railroad bonds were quiet to dull throughout the day, but while the tone of the dealings was steady to firm in forenoon, the decline in shares the effect of sagging off the list later, and most of the issues traded in to any extent are lower this evening, though the losses are generally for small amounts. The sales of all issues aggregated $1,175,000, of which $150,000 were in Reading second incomes. Northwestern consols lost 2, at 1421, and Denver & South Park firats 3, at 30.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 .- Trading in wheat was active, and the market, while weak early, developed decided strength later. The shorts; evidently, were too sanguine. The opening was a repetition of the past few days, and with heavy offerings a decline of 1010 was established at the start. But somebody was absorbing the offerings, and when some of the heaviest shorts undertook to cover, there was not much wheat found on sale. Suddenly the sentiment changed. and the result was a sharp and rapid rise in prices. Yesterday it was rumored that some arge traders had been selling freely of long wheat, and a denial of these rumors, to-day. possibly had a strengthening effect on the mar-ket. The buying to-day was credited, not alone to shorts, but also to a local trader who has figured conspicuously on the long side. The opening was twic lower than yesterday's closing. It rallied immediately to, then fluctuated with small range, selling back ic, but later rallied 2ic, sold off slightly and closed about lie higher than yesterday. Corn was moderately active at times, but through most of the session a quiet feeling prevailed. Trading was to a considerable extent local, not much outside business being transacted, and fluctuations were limited to ac range, with the exception of November. The opening sales were at about yesterday's closing prices, and were firm for a time, then sold off $24c, ruled irregular, and closed a shade better than on yesterday. In cats a good speculative busi-ness was transacted, and although an irregular feeling prevailed, prices on the active futures averaged 1 2 to higher than yesterday. There was a liberal supply of outside buying orders, and operators, as a rule, were quite bullish. The offerings were not large, except at the outside figures, when fair realizing was indulged in, and caused a decline of togc. Later the feeling became firmer and a slight rally followed, and the market closed steady. There was not quite so much done in mess pork, and an easier feeling prevailed. The offerings were not large. Prices fluctuated within a range of 20c, and closed quiet at nearly the inside figures. Only a limited trade was reported in lard, and the feeling was easier. The offerings were fair, and the demand was light. Prices ruled .05 @.07 to lower, and the market closed quiet. Very little business was transacted in short ribs, and prices favored buyers. The leading futures ranged as

INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS.

Trade Improving Somewhat with the Better Weather and More Passable Roads.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21. A number of buyers were in to-day, and in most departments trade was more active than it has been in any day for two weeks past. As a rule prices were steady and strong. Poultry has an advancing tendency on the increased demand Eggs are very scarce and prices firm at the quotations. Choice butter is in excellent demand. Game sells better but is not quotably higher. while the receipts are increasing since the weather has been cooler. Sweet potatoes are advancing in their tendency on a lighter supply. Irish potatoes have taken on a firmer tone and are meeting with larger sale in the past few days. Apples seem to be in good supply, but there is a disposition shown to force prices up a little, and it could be effected if they did not decay so rapidly on account of the mild weather. There are still some grapes in the market and they are selling at low figures, as the season is about over, and for some weeks they have been a drug on the market. In groceries there is a more active move-ment. Sugars and coffees carry a steady tone, and indications of further weakness in prices have disappeared for the time being, at least. The wool market is daily working into a stronger position, while the flour market is more unsettled than a week ago, prices baving a downward tendency. The fron market is firm in tone and trade good, and the same remark will apply to tinners' supplies. The hide market is moderatively active at unchanged prices. Leather-dealers report trade good and prices firmer, but unchanged. The seed market rules

Household Hints. Old table cloths make nice napkins and bibs for the children when cut into shape and hemmed. If the linen is worn thin it is best to make them double and to quilt them in large diamonds. Worn napkins may be put to the same use.

Both table-cloth and napkins are now finished with inch-deep hems and are embroidered in a script initial about three inches long. The embroidery should be raised as high above the level of the goods as possible, and a "filling in" of stitches made lengthway of the letter is recommended before the embroidery is begun.

Housekeepers who wish to be in fashion must no longer use fringed face towels. The correct form is to purchase white linen and to hemstitch one's towels an inch or two and to embroider the initial in white lines floss in one corner. A fancy towel with an unusually deep hem is kept not for use, but to place over the rack to bide the towels in use from view.

Some pretty new bags, to be carried on the arm or used for decoration, are made of the delicately embroidered scarfs that are imported for table covers or chair tidies. One of these will make two bags, using the embroidered ends for the lower part of the bag and cutting them as deep as you wish. Line with silk or not, as you desire, and gather them at the top with a pretty ribbon.

For neuralgic headache there are many cures, and no doubt you have tried a greater portion of them, but the following may be new to you, and it is highly recommended: Squeeze the juice of a lemon into a small cupful of strong coffee, and drink while the coffee is quite hot, It is said to afford instantaneous relief. Strong tes is advocated by many, but it usually increases the pain, and should never be used by those who suffer from such headaches.

The little shoes designed by Mrs. Jessie Fremont for her grandchildren are very sensible and useful. They are of chamois skin, designed from the Indian moccasin, and are intended for babies' wear after they have outgrown the knit-sock period, and before the little kid shoes are worn. Older children can wear them also. They are simple to make and can be embroidered more or less elaborately, and the soft chamois is admirably adapted for delicate little feet.

Dusters and dishelothes should be neatly cut and hemmed. The process takes but a little time and they will be far better taken care of than if the rough shapes and edges are left. The most approved dish towels are of wide check linen three-quarters of a yard in length and are provided with a small corner loop. At least a dozen are needed in every home, so that the soiled ones may be laundried with the regu-lar weekly wash. For kitchen utensils and common wear coarse towels of crash or linen may be used.

The sticks of the old Japanese fans, which have done service throughout the summer months, need not be thrown away because the fans have become shabby, for they may be be converted in to very pretty wall pockets by spreading the fan wide open and tacking or pinning a piece of strong paper to the mount, forming a pocket with the open side nearest the sticks. Drape this with a bright silk handkerchief caught together by a double gathering. Gather it at the sides of the fun a little way from the edge so as to leave a ruffle. Set a row of ribbon at the joining of the sticks.

Now that black lace is so fashionable, it is well to know how to clean it, and everyone, by looking over her laces, will find one or more pieces slightly soiled which might do duty again if properly cleaned. There are several ways of doing this. One is to dissolve a teaspoonful of powdered borax in a quart of hot water. Take a soft brush and go carefully over the soiled places, after which sponge in tepid water. Pick out the lace nicely, place it while damp between pieces of old black silk or soft black cloth and press with a warm iron until dry. Do not use a hot iron. Another method is to throw the lace into alcohol, churning it up and down until it foams. Then squeeze it out, pull it gently into shape and put it between two pieces of brown (not straw) paper until dry. The paper should be weighted.

Mulching Trees. Writer in Burlington Hawkeye. In the fall or early in the winter mulching newly set trees or plants can often be done with benefit in order to protect the roots from alternate thawing and freezing. Mulching is not applied to protect the plants from cold so much as to keep the soil at a more even temperature and therefore avoid the injury so often sustained by the changes during the winter. Protecting plants is often given in order to avoid freezing the wood or the buds and should always be applied before we have hard freezing weather. On the other hand the best time to apply a mulch is after the ground is frozen in the fall. remain frozen all winter. In some soils especially, mulching can be made very profitable. A loose, spongy soil that in thawing or freezing opens or lifts up the plants that have not become sufficiently established by a good growth of roots to obviate this, will often be seriously damaged, when a good mulch applied after the ground has frozen will obviate this. Straw or bagasse are the best materials to use as a mulch, applied evenly around the stems of the trees, and if necessary weighting down. After a shower of rain or a fall of snow they will usually settle down, but if applied dry a hard wind may blow off unless weighted down. In a majority of cases newly set trees or plauts should always be well mulched as soon as the soil freezes hard in the fall.

Fall Pruning of Grape Vines.

Vick's Magazine. I advise the practice of fall pruning for grape vines over that of spring pruning. I do this because in the fall the ground is hard and firm, and as grape vines are often a part of the garden fruitage, it is more desirable to stand upon a dry, firm soil while pruning than upon a wet one, as is often the case in the spring. Then, too, the weather is more propitious. In the spring the weather is frequently so unfavorable, even until quite late, that outdoor work is almost always delayed. The cutting winds of March are far more severe than the temperature of November. one not accustomed to great posure frequently dreads to perform this labor at a season as early as necessary. The weather, however, would furnish but a shallow reason were it the only one, but it is not. My vines have done better the next season after fall pruning, and have borne more grapes than when pruned in the spring, and this fact is worth more than a thousand theories and opinions. I am not aware that any exact experiments have been made to test this point; in my own practice the difference is sufficiently marked to warrant my adhesion to fail pruning, but if the product of the vines is no greater the advantages are still with fall pruning.

Professor Storer says a ration of thirty pounds of pumpkin per cow daily will increase the flow and improve the quality of milk. More than this quantity should not be given. Pumpkins are very cheap food, as a couple of tone can be grown to the acre with the corn crop. The seeds of the pumpkin ought to be removed before feeding.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat Should not be neglected. Brown's Bronchial Troches are a simple remedy and give prompt relief. 25 cents a box.
